DELTA SIGMA HELD MEETING YESTERDAY

Took Form Of a Debate Between Seniors and Sophs.

SUBJECT OF WAR.

"Resolved That War Is An Essential Factor In Highest Development Or a Nation."

A meeting of the Delta Sigma Society was held in the Common Room, Wednesday afternoon, with the president, Miss Mawdsley, in the chair. The meeting took the form of a Senior-Sophomore debate, the subject being, "Resolved, That war is an essential factor in highest development of a nation." The affirmative was upheld by Miss Douglass and Miss Davidson, of '20, and the negative by Miss James and Miss Weibel, of the Sophomore year.

Miss Douglas, upon opening her remarks, said that she and her colleagues did not for a moment forget the horror of war, and yet they maintained that was an essential factor in a nation's development. The speaker pointed out the universality of war in history, and said that the good effects of war have far outbalanced the evil.

There are several factors which go to make up the prosperity of a nation. (1) Character, or soul of the nation. (2) Industrial prosperity. (3) Economic development. (4) Attitude of the people towards education.

Miss Douglass, who has gained her knowledge by personal interviews with thousands of returned soldiers, declared that the men had had their eyes opened to the necessity for education. Countless men, who had attained mature years, without knowing how to read or write, were now attending the schools opened for their instruction. These men, on their return home, will be a great force in developing our educational system.

Art, literature and music also show development in a nation. Many of our greatest masterpieces in art, poetry and music have been produced after periods of war. The speaker here gave concise examples of this fact.

Miss Douglass pointed out the changed position occupied by Canada since the war, and showed how our Dominion has obtained honor, respect and influence as a result of the noble part played by her during the recent conflict.

Miss James, the first speaker for the negative, pointed out the awful and useless squandering of lives, wealth and material, caused by war. She also referred to the loss of great minds, which a country suffers as a result of war. Countless professional men, men engaged on research work, artists and poets, fall on the field of battle.

Miss James also referred to the low morality of a country which is an inevitable result of war. Loss of occasion.

R.V.C. SENIOR HOCKEY TEAM DEFEATED

Strong Montreal West Team
Won Hard-Fought Game.

Playing On Strange Ice Had Disadvantages For Co-eds.

The R.V.C. Senior Hockey team suffered defeat in the hands of the strong Montreal West team, on the latter's rink, by the score of 3-1. The game was played on fast ice, and a crowd of over two hundred Montreal West spectators cheered their team on to victory. It was R.V.C.'s first game played with electric lights, and this bothered them in the first period. The game itself was very interesting from beginning to end. Each team showed marked bursts of speed.

In the first period, the Montreal West girls assumed a lead of two goals, scored by Misses E. Thomson and M. West. The first of these was a well-earned goal, but the second was an easy shot that should never have passed the posts. In the last minute, Miss D. Campbell scored on a fine shot from the wing.

The second period pointed out the weak spot on the R.V.C. line-up of not being able to shoot and follow up. The play in this period was nearly all at the Montreal West end. Miss E. Thomson again found her way down to the R.V.C. end, passing the defence, scored with only the goaler to beat. The period closed with the score 3-1 in Montreal West's favor.

The third period opened with R.V.C. determined to win. They only played one person on the defence. So good was the back-checking of the forwards that not one shot was had at our goal. Miss Fry during this time played an excellent game on the defence. The Misses Foley and Campbell worked exceedingly hard on the forward line, and had it not been the stellar defensive game played by the opponents and the failure of R.V.C. girls in taking loose passes, and in their poor shooting, the score might have been otherwise. There were no goals scored in this period, the game ending with the score still 3 to 1 on the right side for Montreal West.

Both teams displayed excellent talent. Misses E. Thomson and M. West were the stars on the Montreal West team, while Misses D. Campbell, M. Fry and E. Foley were right there for the R.V.C.

The teams lined up as follows:
Montreal West R. V. C.
G. McGlaughlin...Goal... K. Godwin
G. J. Dates...Defence D. Campbell
E. McGlaughlin...Defence... M. Fry
M. West...Centre... A. Roy
E. Thomson...R. Wing... G. Mills
M. Allan...L. Wing... E. Foley
D. McClatchie...Spare... H. Davidson
Spare... E. Snyder
Referee—H. Forrester.

After the game the R.V.C. were royally treated by their opponents with a big supply of biscuits and soft drinks, which well finished a hard-fought game.

A return will be played on the Campus Rink in the near future. The date and time will be announced in to-morrow's "Daily."

UNITED STATES BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Tournament Takes Place
This Month At Atlanta.

MANY ENTRIES.

Twenty Years Entered In Great Athletic Competi-

Many entries are being received for the annual basketball championship, unlimited weight, of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States, which will be played off in Atlanta on March 10, 11, 12 and 13. Although the time for filing entries does not expire until tomorrow, some of the strongest teams from all sections of the country have made negotiations for sending representative fives to participate in the tournament, and A. A. Doonan, chairman of the athletic committee of the Atlanta Athletic Club, under whose auspices the event will be conducted this year, states that there will be the unusually large number of 20 teams entered.

The title will be decided upon the basis of team elimination. Drawings for the matching of teams for the first round of the games will be conducted at the Atlanta Athletic Club at noon on Thursday, March 4, in the presence of one representative of each team entered. As a result of this drawing, 2 games will be played by the contestants on the opening day of the tournament, Wednesday, March 10. The matches will be played all day long on the first day and the contenders thereby reduced to eight teams.

On the second day, Thursday, four games will be staged, afternoon and night, among these eight teams. The semi-finals will be held on Friday night, when the four surviving teams from the second day's playing will stage two games. The finals will come on Saturday afternoon and night, when two games will be played also. One game will decide the 1920 champions and the runner-up. The other game will be played between the losers of the last four teams, to determine third position.

Each team will be allowed to enter eight men and each player on the three leading teams will receive a gold, silver, or bronze medal, according to the respective team standing.

This tournament will be the first national basketball event ever held in the South, and will be conducted on a most elaborate scale. The playing will take place at the Atlanta City Auditorium, where arrangements are being made to accommodate 7000 or 8000 spectators. A contract has been let for constructing a special court in the auditorium for this championship event, at a cost of $3500.

ARTS SOPHOMORES WIN FAST GAME

Defeated First Year Dentistry By Score of 5-3.

In the first of the inter-faculty hockey matches, Arts '22, by a splendid performance, succeeded in gaining a substantial lead over 1st Year Dentistry. The game was well-contested and fast throughout, but the Arts men constantly had the edge over the embryo dentists. The pick of the players were McLean and Badger for the winners, and Gray for the losers. J. McDougall, in goals, was an important asset to the Sophs, and his consistent good work did much to keep the score as it ended, 5-3.

This victory for the Arts' players entitles them to enter into the collegiate finals and to vie with the winners of the other semi-final, in which the winners of the Medical and Science series play off. The final test of collegiate supremacy will be played in the near future at the Mount Royal Arena. Details of the Arts-Dents, game are as follows:

THURSDAY, MARCH 4, 1920.

WHAT IS OUR VERDICT?

Of all the current questions under consideration at a majority of the Universities of America to-day, probably not one is subject to as much discussion as is the method of examination procedure known as the Honor System. The project is not at all a new one in the life of the University-world, for it was formally introduced and brought into play in the University of Virginia almost a century ago, in 1842. Since the date of its initiation there, almost one hundred and twenty-five colleges have introduced it absolutely and wholly into their examinations, and in addition, forty-four claim to have the system "in spirit, but not in form." At the present time, amongst other educational centres of the continent, Columbia is agitating strongly for the introduction of the Honor System, Kansas is working hard to induce its governing body to adopt it, and several other of the colleges are hotly discussing the advisability of giving the system a trial.

Inasmuch as no college anywhere places its aim to teach honor and right thinking behind any other factor in its curriculum, and inasmuch as McGill, for well-nigh a century, has always lived up to and personified the highest of principles of honor and straightforwardness, then that system would be the one and only method of examination conduct adequate to our Alma Mater's principles. Undoubtedly, there is no a doubt as to the ethical advantages of a system in which a man's code of honor is his sole guide, and his sense of right and wrong his only taskmaster. If the system can be carried into practice, if a university can have organization and machinery efficient enough to make this system universally adopted and adhered to, then beyond a doubt, that college would neglect to include a most important course in its curriculum, if it failed to carry out the workings of the system. The primary essentials of the man who is a college product to-day, are honesty and reliability; and if these outstanding qualities can be best brought out by such a system, then it is imperative that the system be brought into the life and workings of the college. If a student can be his own master, if he is his own mentor in deciding the line of demarcation between the right and the wrong, then he is the only one to be blamed when he is dishonest. On the other hand, when the student is in the midst of the gruelling examination, if he is being watched by a member of the faculty, then he feels that he does nothing that is in the least wrong, if he succeeds in "cribbing." He does not feel that he is to blame, no not in the slightest: the professor was there to see that the student did not "crib"; his was the responsibility of the student's method of answering the paper. Accordingly, when the student has "cribbed," he was merely getting ahead of the professor, who had fallen down in his duty: the blame was the professor's because his was the responsibility.

Would the Honor System remedy such a state of affairs? Or does it pre-suppose too Utopian-like a state of morals among students? If the student was put on his honor, would he take the responsibility of keeping himself from dishonest practice? Possibly, the conditions of the Honor System would have a contrary effect, for the student might not have the ability, or the choice to analyse himself to bring out in him his ability to grasp a true consciousness of right and wrong, and the system might unnecessarily expose the student to further temptation. To have one student responsible for his fellow-student, to have him bound to show up that fellow-student if he sees him practise dishonesty, is both disgusting and deplorable. Such a system as this, has no right to be called an Honor System, for the student, if he can escape the watching of his class-mate, is content to be dishonest: any college that has adopted this type of organization, is helping to kill the true sense of honor that the system is meant to uphold. Men have not got the courage, or the idea of self-superiority to condemn a class-mate and thus to ruin his career: it is too unsportsmanlike, it tends too much to develop the "sneak" spirit, and demoralizes true college spirit.

What, then, is the verdict of McGill? Could the Honor System, the complete system, and not the half-way method of mutual supervision, be introduced into McGill to bring out the true manhood of the undergraduate body? Or is the examination control in its present state, a sufficient stimulus to the morals of McGill? Other Universities claim there is a crying need for the system in their halls, what is McGill's attitude?

R.V.C. HISTORIANS' ANNUAL MEETING

General Excellent Addresses Delivered Last Night.

The regular meeting of the Historical Club was held on Tuesday evening, March 2nd. Miss Mills spoke on Japanese Colonization, dwelling at some length on the penetration of the Japanese into Mongolia, Southern Manchuria, Shantung, Korea, Formosa and the Islands of the Pacific. She pointed out the great advantages awarded Japan for her moderate sacrifices in the war, and discussed the possibility of the Japanese domination of China in the future.

Miss Cameron here took up the discussion, showing how a "China divided against herself" was in a fit condition to allow Japan to obtain a firm foothold.

But the major part of the programme was a talk on Historical Plays for Children, given by Mrs. Robert Lee, as an authority on that subject. Many of Mrs. Lee's plays, published under the name of Annie Macdonnell, were already familiar to members of the club, one especially, "Tobin Hood," having been brought to their attention by its presentation on the Campus grounds by the children of the University Settlement.

Mrs. Lee pointed out that the war being over, the question of education was now uppermost in people's minds, and that in any system of education the study of history was necessary to secure a true sense of balance and proportion. No art is more living than the drama. The dramatic instinct, the spirit of imitation, is to be found in a remarkable degree in children, lasting for a number of years. These qualities can be employed to make the past live. Mrs. Lee suggested various incidents of Canadian history which might be effectively dramatized and used in schools and institutions to give Canadian children a reverence for the founders of their nation and a glowing interest in the events of the past.

Discussion of ways and means for encouraging in Montreal institutions the use of what historical plays for children now exist, and increasing their number, followed Mrs. Lee's address. Grateful appreciation of Mrs. Lee's kindness in visiting the club was expressed by all present.

The next meeting of the club will be held on March 16th.

Southern California Amateur Athletic Union for 1917, 1918 and 1919. The University of Utah, runner-up last year, is not expected to enter a five. The Los Angeles club will bring an all-star team to Atlanta to defend its title, among its players being C. V. Swan, forward, and Capt. Harry Cooper, guard. Both of these men played with the Oregon Agricultural College five and are all-northwestern selections. Swan played with the Nome (Alaska) team, which toured the United States, and is considered one of the ablest players in the west. P. E. Wilson, forward, is another noted player whom Manager Cliff Horn expects to bring from Los Angeles.

The Atlanta Athletic Club five, the all-southern champions for 1920, and as yet undefeated this season, will put up an earnest battle to bring the national title to Atlanta. Rutgers College of New Brunswick, New Jersey, has entered a team. MCGILL JUNIORS WERE DEFEATED

Junior Basketball Team Are Beaten By M.A.A. 36-32.

The McGill Junior Basketball team went down to defeat at the hands of the M.A.A. squad last night in the Peel Street gym. The game was keenly contested all the way, and the result was in doubt until the last minute of overtime play. At half-time the score stood 16-8 for M.A.A., while at the end of the second half it was 32-23. An overtime period of five minutes was then played, and it was during these five minutes that M. A. A. won by scoring two baskets to McGill's one, the final score being 36-34. Hartney and Dobson were the chief goal makers of the M.A.A. team, and Turpil and Schwartzman played well for McGill.

Mendelsohn's absence from the line-up, together with poor judgment in the placing of their men, put McGill at a disadvantage right from the start.

The line-up was as follows:

MCGILL M.A.A.A.
Hilton.....Defence.....Wilson
Powell.....Defence.....Toole
Moody.....Centre.....Hartney
L. Brown.....Forward.....Dobson
E. Brown.....Forward.....Macdonald
Schwartzman.....Sub.....Altman

pation, bringing about famine and pestilence, upheaval, unrest, always follows in its trail.

All great men and teachers of all ages have advocated peace and decried the principles of war. The basis of civilization is Christianity. The speaker said that the greatest of all men was himself a pacifist. "If a man smite thee, turn thine other cheek also."

War is only a substitute for an intelligent settling of disputes. Why not an International Court of Arbitration? Miss Davidson began by refuting some points made by the negative. The lack of occupation, she said, was more than made up for by munition plant work, where many more persons could be employed. The speaker said that the people before they entered the Promised Land from Egypt had to fight war after war.

War is necessary for character. It brings out the latent powers of heroism, contempt of meanness, and leadership. People are led by war to an independence of thought on matters of government, etc.

Miss Davidson pointed out how greatly woman's position has been improved by the war, and how she is now coming into her rightful place.

Social caste and narrowness of religion are things done away with by the war. Extravagance and selfishness are bound to come after too long a period of peace.

Miss Weibel asked her hearers to consider the Art in the Grecian Empire. It had attained to marvellous heights before war came, but after war it steadily declined, and never regained its former glory. It is true that war stimulates invention, but may we not have the same progress without war? If, morally, struggle is necessary for the welfare of man, the struggle should be with nature and not with fellow man.

The American Civil War was only the result of the moral development of beneficial years of peace. If there is anything in the law of heredity, a nation is bound to deteriorate in the years following wars, where all the flower of the nation's manhood has been killed.

There is a moral equivalent of war, philosophers tell us. Men could be recruited for other purposes than war. Causes requiring courage, manhood and strength. Thus we could gain hardness without callousness. War is an occupation of savages, and contrary to the teachings of great men of all ages. It necessitates waste of wealth, and checks the advance of art and science. The struggle of men should be constructive and not destructive.

Miss Douglass, in a very able and convincing speech, then refuted many of her opponents' arguments, repeating once more that war is an essential factor in the highest development of a nation.

The judges, Miss Mackenzie, Miss Idler and Mr. Latham, then retired to consider their decision, which was in favor of the affirmative side.

The meeting then adjourned.

SCISSORED SENTIMENTS

Ex-President Wm. H. Taft may be the new head of the University of Cincinnati. Mr. Taft is now a professor at Yale.

Twenty-one members of a class in money and banking, from the University of Nebraska, have been selected to go over the State and assist the people in calculating their income tax.

INTERESTING BIT OF HISTORY.

The following extract, from Ball's History of Mathematics, p. 350, of an experiment in teaching at Paris during the French Revolution may be of interest to our readers:

"In 1795 Lagrange was appointed to a mathematical chair of the newly-established Ecole Normale, which only enjoyed a brief existence of four months. His lectures here were quite elementary and contain nothing of any special importance, but they were published because the professors had to 'pledge themselves to the representatives of the people and to each other neither to read nor to repeat from memory,' and the discourses were ordered to be taken down in shorthand in order to enable the deputies to see how the professors acquitted themselves.

"On the establishment of the Ecole Polytechnique in 1797, Lagrange was made professor; and his lectures there are described by mathematicians who had the good fortune to be able to attend them, as almost perfect both in form and matter. Beginning with the merest elements, he led his hearers on until almost unknown to themselves they were themselves extending the bounds of the subject; above all he impressed on his pupils the advantage of always using general methods expressed in a symmetrical notation."

McGILL WHITES FALL BEFORE MAC. A. A.

Macdonald Show They Are Still In the Running.

FIVE INNINGS ONLY.

Ness Batted Best and Smith Shone In the Field.

Macdonald met the McGill "Whites" for the second game last night, and won in a five innings game with a score of 20-5. It was unfortunate that the game had to be stopped at the end of the fifth, for the "Whites" were beginning to find their stride, and were playing much more consistently.

Macdonald were first to take the field, as the "Whites" were still a man or two short, and brought in three runs. In the second half the "Whites" were held to a no-run half. In the second, the Macdonald boys found the pitcher, "Sid" Davis, and knocked out eight runs in quick succession. In the first half of the second, the "Whites" were again held to a no-run inning. In the third, Macdonald again brought in eight runs, while the "Whites" were successful in putting their first man across. Burland replaced Davis, and in the fourth inning held Macdonald down to one run, while the "Whites" got four across. The "Whites" were up to bat in the fifth inning and brought in three runs, bringing their total up to eight. This left the final score at the end of five innings—20-9 for the Agriculturists.

This will probably correct the impression that Macdonald are not in the running for the league. At present the runners up for first place are Macdonald Staff first and Macdonald students a close second. As it stands at present, the Staff are in the lead, having won every game they played. The students are a very close second, having lost only the one game, and that to the Staff, when the score was 12-9. Since then, the students have been playing very consistent ball, and will give the Staff a very hard run when they come up again for the final game.

A ROUND ROBIN SERIES PROPOSED

Another Inter-Class Basketball League Suggested At Meeting Yesterday.

A most important meeting was held in the Union to-day at one o'clock. The meeting was called to discuss the reorganization of a Basketball League.

The last league was held from November to December, 1919, and then the players were promised that if possible another league would be started. The proposal that another be started was enthusiastically received.

The league, this time, will be in the form of a Round Robin instead of an elimination series as was the last. This will give the teams a better chance, because a team has an opportunity to buck up if they have had luck at first.

It was decided that all Junior McGill basketball players could play in the Inter-class Series, but no intermediates or Seniors. This is decidedly a very liberal policy to adopt, and should prove of great advantage to some of the years.

The league will start on March 13th, and should finish near the end of the month. It is expected that there will be six teams at least in the league. This will be a very convenient number, and should allow ample time for each class to turn out and root for its team.

OLD SCOUTS CLUB MEETING TONIGHT

Very Important Business To Be Discussed At the Hall.

The first annual meeting of the Old Scouts takes place to-night at 7.30, in Room A, Stratheona Hall. Much important business is to be discussed, and arrangements will be made so that the club will be able to begin next season with a flying start.

The annual officers — president, vice-president, etc. — are to be elected to-night, and this will be a change from the present system, which has three executives — Amaron, Strong and Roy.

Of added importance is the fact that a representative of the C.O.T.C. will be up to broach a very attractive proposition to the members of the club.

This is the only one of its kind in Canada, and is a club to which every Old Scout should belong. So, remember, scouts, the time and the place, and the importance of the meeting demands a large turnout.

CONSERVATORIUM CONCERT TONIGHT

Concerts Now Open To Public and Free To the Students.

The McGill Conservatorium Orchestra will give its second concert to-night at the Royal Victoria College at 8.30 p.m. Formerly admission was only by invitation but now concerts are open to the public at a very small charge. McGill students, however, can obtain tickets gratis by applying at the office of the secretary of the Conservatorium, at the northwest corner of University and Sherbrooke Streets.

The Conservatorium Orchestra, under the leadership of Dr. Perrin, has been giving three concerts annually for many years, and is generally recognized to be one of the best, if not the best, amateur symphony organizations in Canada.

The programme of orchestral music for to-night will consist of a Symphony by Brahms, Bedlitz's Carneval Roman Overture, and two small pieces by Jarnefelt. Besides this there will be several piano solos and songs rendered by students of the Conservatorium.

FROM THE COUNTRY

The editor is pleased to announce that arrangements have been completed with the Associated Press throughout the province and in future this paper will receive the latest cables from outlying districts regularly.

Maroon.—The town was dressed in its gayest last Tuesday, and the local band under the distinguished leadership of Mayor I. Cuthair, turned out to welcome the town's gallant hero returning from the war. Private Empty Ump, number 23,479,712, the courageous recipient of the welcome, served gallantly for a considerable period. He was enlisted in the C.A.P.C. on November the tenth, 1918, and served bravely throughout the remaining period of the war in Montreal. Pte. U. Ump is very modest and never speaks of his war service. He says that the horrors of battle are beyond conception. This hero, on questioning, admitted that the Tanks were dreadful and that the aeroplanes he saw showed how thoroughly the British Empire was prepared for battle. Our local hero saw the Kaiser in a building called the Gayety, and witnessed there a blood-curdling combat between the Huns and Americans. He said the dead were lying around in thousands. Many, he observed, recovered. Asked if he thought air raid sirens were very terrifying, the courageous private said he did not know, but said that the sirens on St. Catherine Street were pretty terrifying.

SNAPPY WORKOUT OF GYMNASTS

Mr. Miller Runs Prospective Competitors Through Paces.

An enthusiastic workout was held on Tuesday afternoon for the Wicksteed Competition. Mr. Miller was on hand and after the movements on various pieces of apparatus had been set, the dance steps and the movements for the gymnastic drill were demonstrated.

Interest in all branches of the competition seems to be very keen and a great many students have been turning out in order to get into shape. The all round nature of the competition makes it particularly attractive for the athletic as well as the gymnast. The judges for the competition, which is to take place on March 12th and 13th, have not yet been appointed; but an announcement is expected in the course of the next few days.

Among those who were present at last night's workout were: D. J. Munro C. D. Rorke, Holland, G. A. Velasco, Scott, Hastings, Ross, Delahay, McPhail.

This afternoon from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. in the small gymnasium of the Central Y.M.C.A., there will be another special practice. There is lots of time for intending competitors who have not yet turned out to get into shape. This afternoon an opportunity will be given for practice on the Apparatus and in addition Mr. Miller will be on hand to assist Art Walsh and Wilf. Werry in the work for the gymnastic dancing and drill.

There is a hungry crowd hanging around Ottawa. Also Tommy Church may be there.

JUST THINK A' WEE.

To the Editor, McGill "Daily."

Dear Sir:— In view of the fact that, after a most successful year, the "Daily" will shortly cease publication, I beg to extend my congratulations and appreciation to a "Daily" staff which has worked long, hard and well though often under difficulties.

However, before the "Daily" stops for the session I should like to make some suggestions which I hope may meet with the approval of the Student Body. Because these suggestions are in a certain order, please do not suppose that they are necessarily in order of importance; they are not, I leave you to judge which are most important, but to avoid having to discriminate I arrange them alphabetically.

1.—Intercollegiate News. There has lately been considerable talk of closer union between the various Canadian Universities and Colleges. To promote this I should suggest an Intercollegiate Paper, a weekly possibly, giving the main news of each university, and providing an outlet for student thought an genius. Each university should be responsible for so much space, which would form the skeleton of the paper and then besides this various articles would form the body of it. "Intercollegiate Weekly," as it might be called, would, to a certain extent, be a students university magazine.

2.—McGill Book and Supply Store. Now that the H. C. of L. prevails and has extended to books and supplies the purchasing of necessary texts and instruments has become a serious consideration.

To alleviate this imposition on students would it not be possible for there to be a Students' Book Room where they could procure books and other supplies at nearly at cost price as possible. There would surely be sufficient demand for books to make it possible to buy wholesale, and so undersell the profiteering retailer who now seizes on the luckless student. Old books might also be bought, sold or exchanged on the straight buy and sell basis, or the commission scheme.

3.—Military Training. This is certainly a very serious consideration and it is somewhat difficult I approach it, but as there still seems to be a certain cloud of uncertainty I should like to add my mite to the discussion.

At the last meeting of the Students' Society it was decided to turn down Compulsory Military Training. Since then much has happened, and in the light of it I would make three suggestions. First, that this matter be given serious consideration by all students, not purely and merely from the standpoint of personal inclinations, which is a narrow view—even if you are fat—but from that of considering what would be best for Old McGill, now and in the future, for Canada through her and so to the rest of the universe. Secondly, considering the uncertainty prevailing among students as to Corporations policy on this subject; would it not be wise and expedient for the Students' Council to request a written promise that Compulsory Military Training shall never be instituted in McGill against the wishes of a majority of students until Compulsory Military Training shall be instituted in Canadian Colleges by act of Parliament, and further, that all men who have been one year or more in the army shall be exempt from all forms of Physical Training. Thirdly, I would suggest that in view of the above exemption of returned men, that another and ballot vote be taken on Compulsory Military Training.

4.—Student Control and Government. The elections for the Students' Council are now approaching, and with

To the Editor, McGill "Daily."

Dear Sir:— I read with a great deal of astonishment the letter signed "Senior" dealing with the Alma Mater dance, which appeared in a recent issue. If this parrot-minded individual who does well to disclose his identity, thinks that a formal dance at McGill can be financed without the aid of the freshman year he had better spend another four years here, for he has evidently wasted his first. The first year represents probably the best all around aggregation of men at the University especially from the point of view of social activities.

The first year are just as representative of the college type as are seniors and juniors and even graduates. For this reason there should be no discrimination in the sale of tickets for this most important social event of the season. If the affair is to be a success it must include the first two years and the committee will certainly err if they do not heed this advice.

Yours truly, FRESHMAN.

Mr. St. Whiffletree,

Dear Sir:—

In view of the fact that you and your family group are now on a holiday tear the executive of the Hockey Club have asked me to extend to you and your gang a cordial invitation to attend the big struggle in Ottawa on Saturday, March 6th, when McGill meets Varsity to decide the championship of the Intercollegiate.

Yours truly, Manager of the Hockey Club. P.S.—Don't bring the "vache" as there is a hungry crowd hanging around Ottawa. Also Tommy Church may be there.
